

The National Park

OF QUEENSLAND

J
333.78
NAT

*State Library
of Queensland
Presented by
J. E. WALKER*

2/83

To Mr. + Mrs. J. E. Walker

With

Best Christmas and New Year Wishes

From

The Honourable Arthur E. Moore,
Premier of Queensland, and Mrs. Moore.

December, 1929.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Bottom of the 1,200 feet unnamed Falls in the Upper Coomera River.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Scrub Scene on the slopes of Canungra Gorge (West Branch).

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Meeting of the waters in Black Canyon, showing stream from Lightning Falls (left), and stream from Echo Falls (right). This particular spot has only been seen by four men. The cliffs rise for hundreds of feet on either side; entry to Black Canyon is only gained after a scramble over steep cliffs.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Fern Trees in Fern-tree Gully.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

White gum trees in the Upper Coomera Gorge.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

Elabana Falls, a popular picnic spot. These Falls are one of a dozen seen on the tourist trip to Canungra Creek (West) and Tooloona Creek.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

King Orchid.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

Fountain Falls, East Canungra Gorge.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

Typical Gorge Scene.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

The junction of Shooting Creek and the stream from Black Canyon. This is representative of hundreds of other junctions in National Park.

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

The Stairway Falls, in Canungra Gorge (West Branch).

THE NATIONAL PARK OF QUEENSLAND.

A pretty pool in the Upper Coomera Gorge, one of thousands to be found in National Park.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Lightning Falls, Lightning Creek, showing where they come out below Lightning Cascades. These falls drop over into Black Canyon, several hundreds of feet below.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

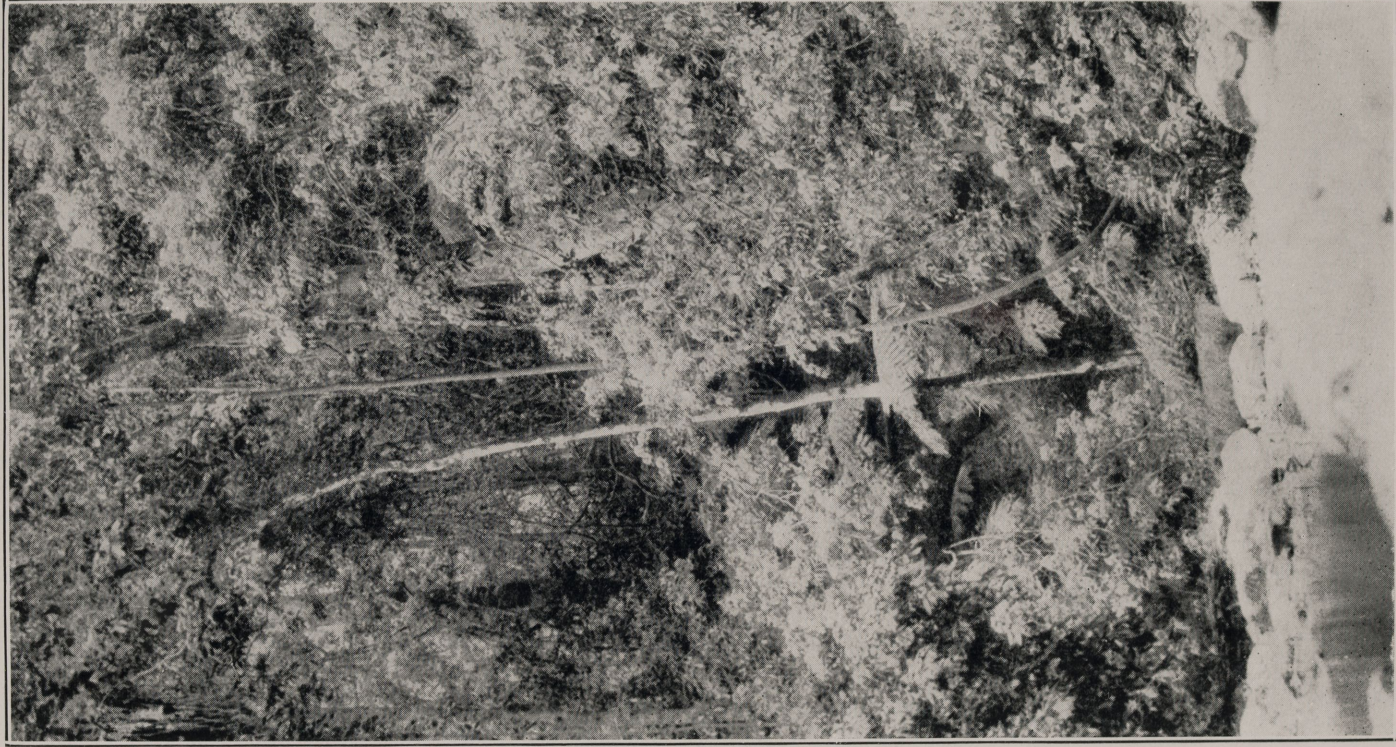

Tropical Jungle, typical of the greater portion of National Park.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Lightning Cascades, just above Lightning Falls.

THE NATIONAL PARK
OF QUEENSLAND.

Wild Scrub blossoming on Moran's Creek.

JOHN OXLEY LIBRARY
— BRISBANE —

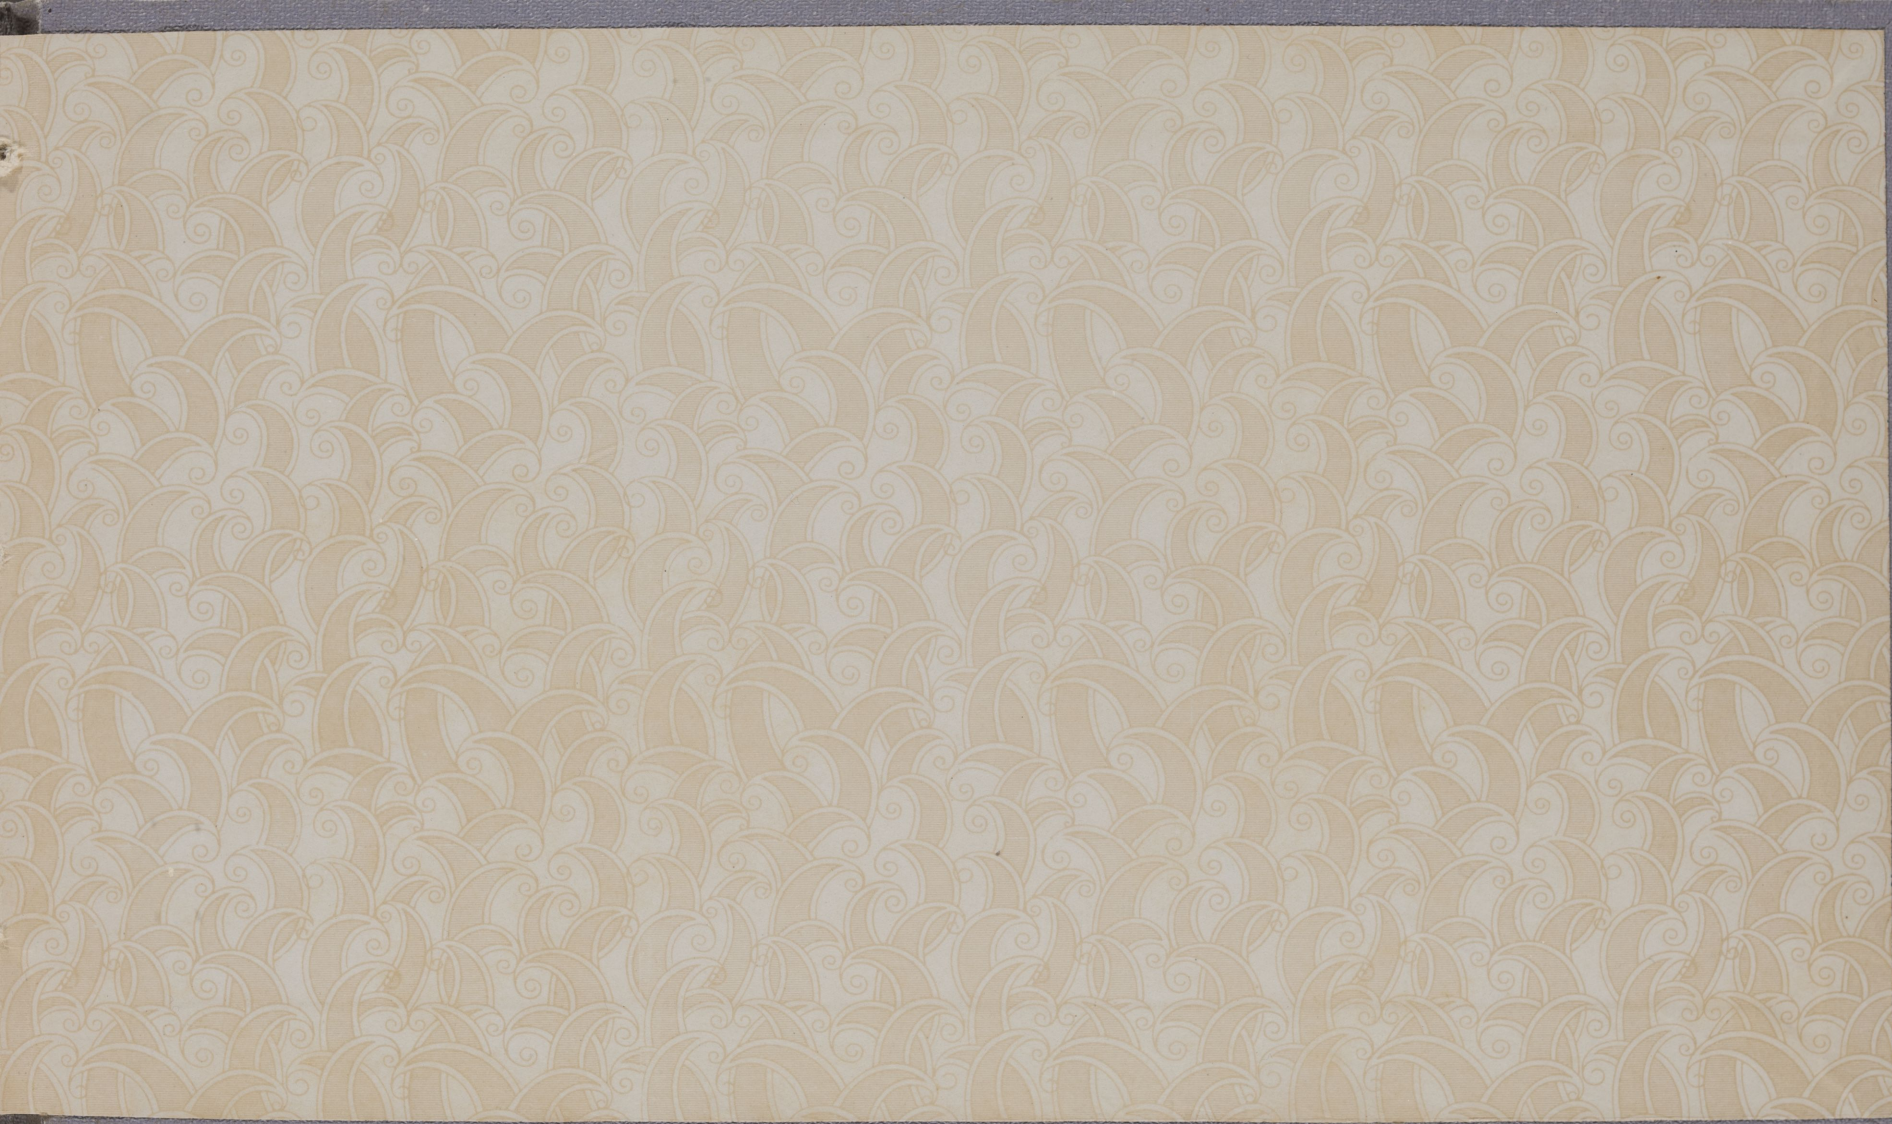

John Oxley Library

J 333.78 NAT

National park of Queensland.

14333

69227069

State Library of Queensland

69227069